

Luis Haquia of Davis Saperstein & Salomon Honored by Cuban-American Community

TEANECK, N.J. (June 6, 2005) --Luis Haquia, the trial attorney of Davis Saperstein & Salomon of Teaneck, N.J., was honored this week by La Tribuna, the newspaper of the region's Cuban-American community.

Haquia was honored at a reception by the newspaper's executives at the Mediterranean Manor in Newark on June 5. He was recognized as "Man of the Year" for his "great example of accomplishment and leadership" to the Cuban-American community, according to the newspaper, which is based in Union City, Hudson County, New Jersey.

"We're very proud of Luis's record and contributions, not only to the law but to the Cuban-American community in the New York/New Jersey region," said Samuel L. Davis, partner of Davis, Saperstein &

Salomon. "He very much deserves this recognition and honor."

Haquia, 41, has worked as a trial lawyer with Davis Saperstein & Salomon for nine years. He specializes in personal injury law and trial law, and provides his high quality services to an array of clients, including victims of automobile and other accidents. Many of his clients originate from Northern New Jersey's Latino community, who know Haquia for his reputation for securing successful settlements.

A native of Cuba who grew up in New Jersey, Haquia is a graduate of Memorial High School in West New York, New Jersey. He also received a BA in criminal justice from Seton Hall University and his law degree from Rutgers Law School. He is admitted to practice before the state courts of New Jersey and New York, as well as the Federal

Davis Saperstein & Salomon's Marc Saperstein Installed as President-Elect of ATLA-NJ

TEANECK, N.J. (June 13, 2005) -- Attorney Marc Saperstein of the law firm Davis Saperstein & Salomon, P.C. was installed at a reception in Long Branch on Friday night as President-Elect of the Association of Trial Lawyers of America-New Jersey.

ATLA-NJ is a statewide association of nearly 2,300 members in private practice and public service, paralegals, law clerks, law students and law school graduates not yet admitted to the bar. ATLA-NJ is dedicated to protecting New Jersey's families by working to preserve and strengthen the laws for safer products and workplaces, a cleaner environment and quality health care.

Saperstein, 52, is a founding partner of Davis Saperstein & Salomon, P.C. a 14-lawyer firm dedicated to representing people injured by all forms of negligence and accidents, including auto and workplace accidents. The firm also handles complex civil and product liability litigation.

Marc Saperstein is a graduate of Dumont High School, Rutgers University and Emory University Law School. Mr. Saperstein is known as a talented courtroom litigator, but he is best known for his work in some of America's most complex cases including Tobacco Class Actions, Diet Drugs, Fuel Tank explosions and many other types of cases.

He served as co-counsel resulting in the national landmark settlement with the tobacco industry and handled diet drug class actions and individual claims. Saperstein represented the City of Newark in its landmark suit against firearms manufacturers. He has been responsible for dozens of seven figure settlements or verdicts in behalf of plaintiffs. Mr. Saperstein lives with his wife and two children in Bergen County, New Jersey.
